Classification of construction products and building elements of fire performance. Alimentary contact certificate All COMPAC Technological Quartz products comply with the European regulation EC 1935/2004 for articles intended to come into contact with food.

Incorporating BIO resins from renewable plant sources is a very important technological advance to the market and benefits the entire distribution channel, especially in the handling by fabricators because of its lower shrinkage and internal stresses, supports better the bending, increases its impact resistance, cracks and cutting fissures, minimizing the slabs' curvature during the storage and, due to its hardness, makes easier the polishing and finishing work.

Inspect before cutting

WORKTOP ELABORATION:

Below is a description of guidelines you should follow when making COMPAC Technological Quartz worktops to ensure maximum quality, avoid claims from clients or incidents during elaboration.

1. VISUAL INSPECTION OF THE PANEL

Remove the protective plastic before inspecting the slab. Before cutting the panel it is recommendable to visually inspect it, looking for possible nonconformities on the panel. Once the slab has been cut, no claims for any of the reasons listed below will be accepted:

- Differences in colour on the same slab (batch number, label identifier).
- Differences in tone from one slab to another, should more than one slab be needed for the complete job.
- Shadows, non-uniform brightness or polishing marks.
- Pores or other surface imperfections.
- Stains or irregularities in the distribution of the quartz elements.
- Thickness outside the tolerance of 1.2mm. Curvature outside the tolerance of 3mm in length and 1.5mm in height.
- Surface fissures or cracks. "Due to the particularities of their manufacturing process and the raw materials used in COMPAC products, these may present slight irregularities in the random distribution of quartz grains, as well as slight imperfections.

If this is the case, it is the responsibility of the marble worker or installer to decide if the slabs showing these anomalies are appropriate for application in each individual case or not." The marble worker or installer should keep a record of the batch No. or Nos. of the slab/s used in each job, as these must be presented in the event of an incident or claim.

2. BASIC RECOMMENDATIONS FOR ELABORATION

To achieve good results in elaborating the worktop, please always bear in mind the following basic recommendations:

- Do not attempt to change the surface finish of the material by repolishing, sealing or pumicing it.
- Always use water-cooled tools to avoid overheating the material being cut.
- Always try to avoid cross cuts, as these may produce fissuring.
- Angle cuts must always be rounded off (minimum radius 1 cm). For internal angles always use a suitable drill to avoid damaging the angle.

*These recommendations pertain to the COMPAC Professional Manual vers.1 201210 point No.2 Manufacturing

COMPAC places at your disposal our Technical Manual for Professionals to ensure that our products are handled with maximum precautions after leaving the factory, to enhance the safety of professionals working with our materials and to guarantee total satisfaction for the end user.

Please ask your sales agent for this document, in which you will find detailed instructions and useful advice to enable you to save time, work more safely and guarantee product quality.

Intructions for care and cleaning

• WHERE SHOULDN'T COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ BE USED?

Do not place COMPAC Technological Quartz materials in outside locations or in place subject to intense solar radiation, or in places where the product may be exposed to lighting emitting UV rays.

• IS COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ HEAT RESISTANT?

Yes, it is a heat-resistant product. Nevertheless if you place hot objects taken straight from the stove or oven (frying pans, pots, casseroles, etc.) on these surfaces, they may be irreversibly damaged. Therefore it is recommendable to use mats or cloth over the quartz surface when you need to place hot objects on it. Toasters, fryers and other appliances (built in vitroceramic hobs, dishwashers, etc.) generate heat, so the surface should be protected by ensuring there is sufficient separation for ventilation so that heat can be dissipated.

• IS IT NECESSARY TO APPLY A SEALANT ON THE SURFACE OF COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ?

No, thanks to its null porosity, no humidity can penetrate the surface, so it is not necessary to use water-repellents or sealants to protect the surface or enhance its gloss, as opposed to other natural stone like marble.

• CAN I CUT DIRECTLY ON COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ SURFACES OR USE SHARP UTENSILS?

COMPAC Technological Quartz is made from 93-95% natural quartz, one of the hardest and most beautiful minerals in the world. Nevertheless, to ensure its integrity and beauty we recommend avoiding cutting operations directly on the surface. Use an appropriate cutting board when working with knives, sharp utensils or tools.

• WHAT CHEMICAL OR CLEANING AGENTS ARE NOT RECOMMENDABLE FOR USE?

Do not use paint strippers, caustic soda, degreasers, or products with a pH level above 10 or chlorine-based products, such as oven or toilet cleaners, furniture wax, or oily soaps or drine unblocking products. Do not under any circumstances use products containing hydrofluoric acid or dichloromethane. If you use bleach or solvent, this must be diluted with water and never allowed to remain in contact with the surface for long periods of time.

• CAN I RE-POLISH COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ SURFACES?

No. Under no circumstances should COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ surfaces be re-polished, either in floor or worktop applications.

• HOW DO I CLEAN AND CARE FOR A SURFACE WITH GLACÉ FINISH?

All COMPAC Technological Quartz products and finishes (Polished and Glacé) have the same quality levels and physical-mechanical properties.

• DO COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ MATERIALS WITH BIO RESINS OR RECYCLED MATERIALS NEED ANY SPECIAL KIND OF MAINTENANCE?

No. COMPAC supplies several products made using renewable "BIO" plant-origin resins (Carrara, Perlino, Botticino, Unique Calacatta™, Unique Marquina™, Unique Venatino™, Unique Arabescato™ and Unique Argento™) and other products containing a high percentage of recycled materials (crystals): Azabache, Titáneo, Láctea and Venecia. All of these have the same quality levels and only require the same care and maintenance as other products.

• IS COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ A SAFE/HYGIENIC MATERIAL?

Yes. All our Technological Quartz products are certified and approved for home use by official certifying bodies in each of the countries where COMPAC products are sold. We have a GREENGUARD Indoor Air Quality certificate, which means that our products contribute to a healthier indoor atmosphere, giving off no volatile emissions, and a GREENGUARD Childrens & Schools certificate that guarantees the safety of our products in schools and other buildings where children spend substantial periods of time. The NSF also certifies that our products transmit no contaminating chemical elements to food or foodstuffs when they come into direct contact with COMPAC surfaces.

• DO COMPAC TECHNOLOGICAL QUARTZ PRODUCTS CONTAIN ANTIBACTERIAL AGENTS?

No. The zero porosity of our material prevents the formation of mould, mildew and bacteria. Therefore, it is not necessary to incorporate chemical agents in our products to prevent bacterial growth. We maintain that COMPAC Technological Quartz products are natural antibacterial materials.
